

July 10, 2008
Arts Agenda

>> It may just be that we're in Conner Contemporary withdrawal, since they shuttered up their Dupont space last year and won't open in their new Atlas neighborhood venue until December, but our pick of the week has to be Academy 2008. With a temporary space at 1341 H Street NE, donated by Taurus Development, Conner's annual student show won't miss a beat while venues are in limbo. Check out the work of 21 artists from local colleges during the opening reception on Friday, 6 to 8 p.m. Afterward, head down the street to SOVA, where one Academy artist, Diane F. Ramos, curated her own show of five GWU first-year MFA students in Definition.